

My husband is a long haul truck driver and he uses the XM service. He enjoys it very much. Being on the road all over the country he is not able to get many "regular stations" and never gets a signal long enough to hear a whole program, but with XM that is no longer a problem. With out XM he would not be able to keep up on the news and weather and in some cases he has been able to find out traffic problems and avoid long delays. Our paycheck depends on him to continue to roll, with the traffic information it is a help to both keep moving and avoiding long traffic back ups. To stop this service is to add more difficulty to the already tedious job of keeping our trucks rolling and goods arriving in a timely matter. For a country that depends on the trucking industry and then have someone take away a tool to help it is not the American way.
